FARM SCHOOL FOR YOUNG SETTLERS

Government Will Open One of Farm Schools Temporarily Closed for This Instruction

The provincial government has decided to open one of the now vacant farm schools for the purpose of educating young Englishmen between the ages of 18 to 25, fitting them to go on Alberta farms.

That is the plan which was placed before the government by George Headley, minister of agriculture, on his return from Britain, where he investigated all of the details of such a proposal.

Mr. Headley's Policy
The policy as outlined to the government was that the Overseas Settlement Board of Britain will pay one-half of the expense of operating the schools and the province of Alberta will pay one-half of the expense. The young men themselves will have to pay for the board and lodging, which is estimated at about $30 a month. The schools will be opened according to the plan from October 1 to April 1. The course of instruction at the school for this purpose will be entirely different from that given now, and the young men will be fitted entirely for life on the Canadian farms. The department will not encourage the young men to make investments of any kind until they have passed through the school, and in addition have actually worked on the Alberta farms for some considerable time. The Dominion department of immigration is co-operating with the province and the overseas immigration board in securing young men of the right kind to take advantage of these opportunities.

A Brief Outline
This in brief is an outline of the plan which was placed before the government, and to which the government has given its approval.

There are at present four farm schools which are not occupied. They are Vermilion, Youngstown, Raymond and Gleichen. The government has not decided yet which of the schools will be utilized, but there are certain reasons for using Vermilion. That is one of the schools which was actually in operation and is in better position for beginning. The capacity of that school is 150 pupils, and it is understood that the work will not proceed until there are at least 100 pupils prepared for instruction.

Great Encouragement
While in Britain Mr. Headley placed the plan before a large number of people interested in overseas immigration. He met with very great encouragement with the plan. He has no doubt but that at once the school will be filled and in a short time all of the vacant schools will be utilized in this manner.

$1.50 WHEAT IN SIGHT

Chicago, July 17.—It was a red letter day for high prices Wednesday in every grain exchange. Urged by reports of grain failures from Canada, corn and oats all soared to new quotations for this year. Even hog values at the stockyards felt the effect and smashed the season's top record.

Although official figures in the volume of trading were unavailable last night, opinions from brokers were that the aggregate of wheat transactions Wednesday in Chicago equalled or perhaps exceeded Tuesday's total which was 69,138,000 bushels, the largest amount on record in more than a year. Corn business done here yesterday also was of huge proportions.

Goal is $1.50 Wheat
The climax in the wheat pit yesterday was reached just before the market closed, and was largely due to Winnipeg despatches received by one of the principal grain firms here declaring that the crop damage situation in Canada was such as to warrant predicting $1.50 as the probable price goal of wheat.

One of the most significant developments in the wheat situation was the announcement that demand for newly harvested wheat in the United States had become so active that half of the receipts at Minneapolis were from as far away as Oklahoma. It was added that most of the new wheat arriving in Minneapolis was being directed to mills. In this connection the fact was pointed out that wheat prices at Kansas City practically duplicated the action of the market at Chicago and jumped five cents a bushel.

YEGGS SECURE BIG HAUL

FROM WETASKIWIN JEWELRY STORE

Some time during Thursday night last the store of H. R. French, jeweler, was entered by robbers and some $3,000 worth of jewelry taken from the safe. The job was done by a master craftsman, who left no sign of a clue as to his identity except the manner in which he forced the safe.

Entering the back door of the store by the simple means of driving a chisel into the door jamb and pushing back the bolt, he started on the safe, first bending down the knob of the combination enough to get a sharp cold chisel down behind the numeral dial, cutting through the handle bolt which turns the combination on the inside of the safe door, and driving the bolt through into the safe. After this had been done the locked doors were released and the safe was opened by merely turning the handles in the usual way. It was a neat job, the other part of the safe not being damaged in the least, except that a new combination is needed.

The interior of the safe, which was made up of shelves for the jewelry trays, several hardwood drawers and a steel cash drawer, was damaged considerably more, the locks on the wooden drawers being driven in by a chisel and the steel drawer pried out of its compartment and carried away. The thief also took the inside workings of the combination of the big doors.

Several citizens who had watches in the store for repairs lost their property, while other watches which had been repaired and marked with Mr. French's private repair mark, had not been touched, making it harder for the stolen goods to be traced.—Wetaskiwin Times, July 17.

SYLVAN LAKE

A Cure For Ill-health or the Blues

Did I hear you say that Sylvan Lake wasn't a good health resort. Well, now I can prove to you or anyone else that says so, that you are mistaken, because on the 25th of June someone brought two young ladies to the lake with all of their goods and chattels, with a four-horse team with wagon and hayrack; and, after, after those same girls had been here to the lake to the 15th of July, Mr. E. Blakely concluded that horses were not adequate for the job of taking them home, so he took his little old Fordson tractor and hitched on to the same wagon and drove home. Now if those girls hadn't gained a whole lot in those two weeks, why, I ask you, couldn't he have come with those same horses and drawn them home? Ah, but we had a horse shower of rain over this section of the country on the 15th inst. A million dollars shower—what do you know about that?

Mr. Crow, an attorney from Three Hills; Mr. Anderson and Mr. Collier, from Vulcan; and Messrs. Shaw and Matheson, of Calgary, and their respective families, are all nicely located in the Meyers apartment house, and are now ready to enjoy life as best possible here at the lake by taking in the fishing, boating and bathing.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins and their little daughter, Miss Jessie Young, Miss Leona Hodgkinson and Mrs. Forsythe, Mr. Bentley and David Cropper, all of Calgary, are pleasantly located in rooms at the Dew Drop Inn, and are having the time of their lives, and are enjoying themselves so well, as they sit in that spacious sitting room around the reading lamp of a cool evening, with just fire enough to take the chill off, reading, playing cards, dancing, singing songs and listening to the music of the piano, see them you would say, "No wonder they are coming back next year."

A move is being made in Sylvan Lake met in Mr. and Mrs. Hazelwood's parlor on the evening of the 15th inst. The purpose of the move was to discuss the possibility of holding our annual regatta. After the few preliminaries were gone over, Mr. P. Duffield was called to the chair, and nominations were in order. Mr. Wright was nominated and elected as Sec.

Treas., and Mr. McWhirter the same way for President. The two officers elected took the chairs and the business began. The different committees were all announced and all other business thought of was looked after, and last, but not least, the Grand Parade was talked over and accepted. And right here we wish to say that we wait for the cow boys and all the cow boys from all the country around wherever looked a cow in the face, or never saw one, to go to work at once and figure out what they are going to do, and what they are going to wear, for remember who is going to be the most grotesque in the parade is going to get a prize worth working for. There will be both money prizes and other keepsakes given to whoever gets them will never be ashamed of them. Also we want our friendly Indians to join in the fray and show us natives the tricks natural to their clan. Come one, come all, old, young, short and tall, and jump onto the band wagon and see how much noise you can make. This band music will be blown out of tin horns, corn bells, tin pans and any other old thing that will make a noise. Now let everyone join in who loves a little sport and we will have such a time that Calgary will forget they have a parade. These men want to see this Grand Parade must be sure and be on the main streets of our little burg by eleven o'clock sharp, as this is the time the parade will take place. Eleven o'clock sharp on the 5th day of August, 1924.

PLAN TO MOVE FARMERS ON TO IRRIGATED AREAS

Southern Farmers Would Like to Make Transfer; Are Not Likely to Do So

Lethbridge, July 21.—A concerted move is being made in some of the out sections of the south-eastern Alberta to move farmers now operating on a low level, due to drought conditions, to the irrigated areas surrounding this city, and it would not be surprising to learn of some suggestion of government assistance being made from the districts affected by the crop failure. Quite a number of farmers in the drought area have already visited different irrigated projects and are arranging to rent farms. Others would like to make the transfer, but are financially handicapped. These men want to stay in Canada, but they have reached a desperate point. Southern Alberta irrigated areas are solely in need of settlers, particularly the Lethbridge district, north of this city, and men closely in touch with farm conditions here are strongly in favor of some systematic effort to transfer farmers desiring a change to these unoccupied irrigated farms. If this is not done it is feared many settlers will leave for the States.

CASTOR BADLY DAMAGED BY FIRE SUNDAY MORNING

Ninety Percent of Business Section Destroyed or Damaged.

Damage estimated at $250,000 was done by fire which destroyed or damaged more than 90 percent of the business district of the town of Castor, early Sunday morning. Eight buildings, including the branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, were completely destroyed, and seven other buildings were considerably damaged by fire and water. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin and the provincial police are investigating. The following pieces of business were completely destroyed: National hotel, Royal Bank of Canada, Matheson's billiard hall, Les Bros' laundry, McMillan's furniture store, R. M. Spratt general store, C. H. Horsley hardware store. The following pieces of business were considerably damaged: Matheson and McBride hardware store, Queen's restaurant, Begert's garage, Dr. McPherson's surgery and office, office of municipality of Sullivan Lake, Grigsby barber shop, Gross and Reid's gent's furnishings, Modern Drug Company, Castor meat market.

The fire was first noticed at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, and in a short time the volunteer fire brigade was on the scene. The flames, fanned by a light wind, soon got away from the brigade, however, and in a few minutes several buildings on one end of the main street were blazing. The townspeople, awakened by the crackle of burning wood and the roar of the flames, turned out to give the firemen a hand, and a bucket brigade was soon set in motion. After an hour's work it was found that one section of the business block was doomed to destruction, and the townspeople turned their attention to saving furniture and goods from stores in the path of the flames. It was not until 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning that the firemen got the blaze under control, but by that time the greater part of the business section was a smoldering mass of ruins.

Here and There

In response to the appeal of the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., for $500,000, to meet present needs, the Canadian Pacific Railway has supported the plea by subscribing $15,000 to the fund.

Canada will soon be the mecca of many moving picture directors, according to Herbert Brenon, producer for Thomas Meighan, who recently arrived at Banff to film the big outdoor scenes for James Oliver Curwood's "The Alaskan."

The fish catch of the world approximates $1,000,000,000 a year in its cost to the consumer, of which $750,000,000 goes to those who harvest it, statistics furnished by the United States Fish Commission declare.

The value of the tourist traffic to Canada is proved by figures supplied by the Parks Department of the Dominion Government, which show that the enormous sum of $135,000,000 was spent by tourists in this country in 1923. This represents the Dominion's fourth largest source of foreign cash income.

On her arrival at Quebec, June 14, the Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of France" broke the record for the fastest time made between that port and Southampton, England, from which she sailed, having maintained an average speed of over 19 knots. This vessel also holds the record for the run between Quebec and Liverpool.

Arrangements for the Pageant of Empire, to be held at the British Empire Exhibition July 21-August 30, are now rapidly completing. Episodes showing the history of Canada and the other Dominions as well as of the Mother Country from the earliest times to the present day are being organized with the assistance of prominent residents of the Dominion now in London.

Hon. J. E. Perrault, Minister of Colonization, Mines, and Fisheries for the Province of Quebec, on his return from a recent extensive trip to the Temiscamingue district of that province, stated that there were over 2,000 prospectors exploring the gold-fields of Quebec and at least a million dollars would be expended in development work in the region during the course of the season.

According to figures prepared by the freight department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the export grain movement via Vancouver reached a total of 48,971,000 bushels on May 31, 1924, compared with a total of 17,387,715 bushels as on May 31, 1923. In other instances the figures cover the crop year commencing September 1st. The increase in the movement of grain is 3,584,215 bushels or 181.5 per cent.

Enthusiastic celebrations took place at Vancouver and Victoria, B.C., when the special service squadron of the Royal Navy, headed by H.M.S. Hood, the largest warship in the world and flagship of the squadron visited those places recently. The squadron is expected on the Atlantic seaboard in August, when efforts will be made by Canadians on that coast to outdo the Pacific cities in the warmth of the welcome they extend. The anticipations are that thousands of visitors will gather at Quebec and elsewhere to demonstrate their affection for the officers and men of the fleet.

"You may say that Canada is becoming more and more interesting to Englishmen and before long additional English capital will be used here in the development of industries. I am very optimistic and I believe that we are now progressing towards an era of unprecedented prosperity. When we need more than all now is the immigration of good men who will become an asset to this country," declared Sir John Aird, President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, on his return from Europe recently aboard the Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of France."

Indians Massacred the Garrison

NEW UNION STATION, CHICAGO

When Fort Dearborn was burned, 1820

If one were to address a letter to-day to "Chicago," even a clever post-office official would be puzzled, but that was how the great French explorer, La Salle, spelled Chicago 241 years ago. Chicago was only a name when Joliet, Pere Marquette and the Sieur de La Salle camped there on their way to the Mississippi. Chicago was then a part of Canada—New France; it was called Joliet and Marquette visited it 241 years ago, or ten years earlier than La Salle. Even then Chicago was a great transportation centre for Indians and French explorers for it was on the line of march westward from Quebec, via the Great Lakes, to the Mississippi and southward to the Gulf of Mexico. La Salle actually went from Quebec to the Gulf of Mexico and back again, and was murdered somewhere in Mississippi by his own followers. When the canoe and the prairie schooner of the pioneers were succeeded by the railway train, Chicago became one of the world's greatest transportation centres, being on the same old line of march from the east to the west, and vice versa. Fort Dearborn was built in 1803 and for three decades was Chicago. In 1812 Indians massacred the garrison, but the old fort was rebuilt and in 1829 the first railway train entered Chicago from the east. To-day Chicago is a great railway hub, the spokes of which run north, south, east and west. Her new union Station, now nearing completion, will be one of the finest terminals in the world and will be used by the Pennsylvania, Burlington, St. Paul and Alton railways.

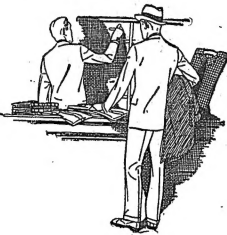

Another new and important rail development in Chicago is the move of the Canadian Pacific's rail and steamship passenger offices and those of the Soo Line to the new Straus Building, corner of Michigan Avenue and Jackson Boulevard, a very attractive and imposing 32 story building set far from the site of historic Fort Dearborn. Following the route of the early explorers of 250 years ago, the Canadian Pacific enters Chicago via its own lines and the Michigan Central westward from Montreal and places the eastbound Chicago traveller aboard ship for Europe in Montreal in less than 24 hours. West-bound over the Soo Line and Canadian Pacific, the traveller reaches Vancouver in 81 and a half hours from Chicago and in only 90 hours from Montreal. What would La Salle, Joliet and the good Pere Marquette think of such transportation feats now?

SCOTTISH PLOUGHMEN FOR CANADA.

Two hundred ploughmen from all parts of Scotland, including twenty-two splendid families, recently sailed from Scotland, under the direction of Mr. T. B. Roberts, of the Department of Colonization and Development, Canadian Pacific Railway. These emigrants have capital ranging from a few hundred to a thousand pounds. Ninety of the party, hailing from the counties of Inverness, Ross, Sutherland and Caithness, were selected by Miss Anne Macdonald, Canadian Government agent at Inverness. Most of the party are retained for the West upon arrival at Quebec.

THE DEFENCE OF INSANITY

At a time when public attention in Canada is being directed to various aspects of the criminal law, it is perhaps appropriate to take notice of a bill introduced unsuccessfully in the British House of Lords by that famous English judge, Lord Darling, now retired from the bench. This was a bill to amend the English law with respect to insanity as a defence to a criminal charge. At present under what are known as the M'Naughton Rules it is held that a man accused of a crime is not guilty if owing to mental disease he was prevented from knowing the nature and quality of the act which he was committing, or from knowing that that act was wrong.

Lord Darling's bill proposed to add a third defence, namely, that an accused person should be held not guilty if the act of which he is accused was done by him under pressure of an impulse which he was "through mental disease in substance deprived of any power to resist."

This doctrine of an irresistible impulse has been suggested by medical experts in mental diseases. It is self-evident to anyone that it is an obscure and difficult doctrine, both in its verbal expression and in its application in practice. The fact that a judge of such keen intellect and wide experience of criminal law as Lord Darling should make himself responsible for trying to have this doctrine embodied in the law of England, makes it impossible to regard the proposed changes lightly.

The House of Lords decided to obtain the opinion of the Kings Bench judges (that is, roughly speaking, the superior court judges of England). The Lord Chief Justice stated to the House the results of his consultation with the judges. Of twelve judges ten were in agreement with the Lord Chief Justice in being wholly opposed to the change, one was in favour of it and one was doubtful. On this advice the House of Lords rejected the bill.

The ground of the judges' adverse opinion to the proposed change was that it is and must be quite impossible to determine whether in any given case a man's mind is in such a condition that he can or cannot resist any impulse, and that the only effect of compelling a jury to decide such a question would be to cause hopeless confusion and to lead to the escape of a large number of guilty persons.

It is impossible not to agree entirely with the view of the English judges and the House of Lords in the matter. However idealistic correct the medical view may be, it is quite impracticable to introduce it as a part of daily conduct. It is the sort of theory that would delight the heart of American or French criminal lawyers. It is out of place in British courts, and we may be thankful that for the present at any rate it is not going to get a footing in these courts.

THE EXTENSION OF THE WHEAT POOL

Discussion has taken place and negotiations are in progress with a view to the formation of a wheat pool for the three Western provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, which shall replace or extend pools for these provinces individually.

In theory at any rate the plan is a wise one. The experience of the Western States seems to show that small pools labour under grave disadvantages. They can have little or no control over or effect on the markets, especially in the case of such a commodity as wheat, which is grown all over the world, and they are apt to be overruled by administrative expenses. The individual wheat pools of Idaho and Washington have failed altogether. Those of Oregon and California are on the edge of failure and unlikely to continue. In the case of the Californian pool the final blow seems likely to be administered by the comparative failure of the Californian crop this year through drought. The effect of that failure is that the management of the pool has only a small quantity of grain to handle, and has to choose between the alternatives of discharging some of the staff trained in the past years, and so disorganizing the administration both for the present year and the future, or of retaining the full staff, and so having excessively heavy administration expenses in proportion to the value of the grain handled. Such a danger must always threaten a small pool, but a pool which covers a wide area and handles very large quantities is less exposed to it. In Western Canada it is rare for conditions to be exactly similar over all three prairie provinces. If the crop is poor in one province, it is good in another, and while the whole it will be easier to maintain an average volume of grain for the pool to handle, if the three provinces are combined than if they act separately.

There ought also to be a saving in the cost of administration, provided that the plan of administration is efficiently drawn up and carried out. In the case of the Western States there has been a sharp contrast in this respect between Oregon and California. The Oregon pool has had a large staff and an expensive organization. That of California has been much more cheaply managed, and there seems to be ground for the accusation that excessive administration has had a share in causing the comparative failure of the Oregon pool.

However, a pool for the whole of the Western provinces might be large enough to have some effect at the market. However much wheat is grown in the United States, it seems to be certain that Canadian wheat is none the less necessary in the States for mixing purposes. The quality and type of Canadian wheat cannot be grown in the States. The same remark applies to Great Britain, at least so long as Russia remains unable to export wheat to any extent. Therefore Western Canadian wheat has a necessity for the world market, and if the pool can include the greater part of the crop for the whole West, its position in the world market will be strengthened. At present it is quite negligible. In this respect it may be noted that the pools which have succeeded best in the States have been those concerned with products grown in humid areas. In such cases the pool has been able to handle practically the whole supply for the States, and was therefore in a position to control the United States market. The raisin growers' pool in California is an instance of this sort.

The real crux of the plan is management. Again and again the question of efficient management comes up in this matter of co-operative marketing. The talent of the brokers always is that the pools cannot get capable or disinterested managers; that either they must pay such high salaries as to overload the pool with administration expenses or they must employ cheap men who cannot do the work efficiently, or that favoritism and "democratic" methods in the appointment of officials lead to unskillful, unbusinesslike management. There can be no complete protection against this danger, for more than there can be any certain method discovered for preventing jealousy and friction among the farmers who form the pools. Only experience, education, and the exercise of far-seeing disinterested judgment in the selection of their leaders can enable the farmers to make a success of their pool. There is no essential logical truth in the brokers' argument as to the necessary failure of the pool management. There may, however, be practical truth in it, and if so, it is a bad look out for the farmers. They will do well to take the most careful thought to their ultimate interests in this matter.

THE WICKED SENATE AND THE BRANCH LINES

The Liberal papers throughout Canada have been filled with cries of rage against the Canadian Senate because it has refused to authorize some of the National Railways branch lines in the West. The demand is made that the time has come to sweep away this anachronistic survival of pre-democratic days. The Senate, it is declared, is too full not only of years but also of iniquity to survive longer. "Down with the Senate," say the Liberals; "Down with it, even if it means something like revolution."

Let us look into this matter with an eye to the past and an impartial mind. It is only a matter of something under twelve years ago since this same Senate rejected the Borden Government's bill for providing three branch lines for the railway of the Empire. History has proved that those ships might have been of supreme value in the war which came so soon afterwards, and the very idea of which was ridiculed by the senatorial majority of that time. Was there any protest from the Liberal press then? Not at all. On the contrary the action of the Senate was approved as showing the wisdom of the majority of its members in rejecting what were termed "the senseless demands of an extravagant gang of militaristic Tory jingoes." Yet, as has been said, history has shown that on that particular occasion the majority in the Senate acted as fools, if not as knaves. Why then do the Liberals dispute the attitude of the Liberal press then as compared with its attitude now? The answer is not hard one to find. The Senate majority then was a Liberal majority. Now it is a Conservative one.

It is rather cheap and pitiful, this treatment of a quite serious constitutional question on a basis of narrow partisanship. The matter of the Senate deserves something better, even from the daily press. Is it an advantage or a disadvantage for Canada to have a second chamber recruited in such a fashion that it tends to be of a different political creed from the government of the day, and the majority of the House of Commons, and therefore puts a brake on the legislation of the government?

Admittedly the Senate is not a popularly elected body. One is tempted to suspect that appointments to the Senate are sometimes the reward of something else than proved political wisdom or personal merit. Admittedly the life tenure of these appointments tends to make the Senate more or less indifferent to popular feeling. Even so, is the effect of the Senate bad or good? Suppose that the people of Canada were exceedingly anxious to have a second chamber measure passed into law, and the Senate rejected it. It is at least probable that the people of Canada would maintain the power in the House of Commons the party that introduced that measure, and not the party whose representatives in the Senate rejected it. Then, as vacancies gradually occurred in the Senate, the hostile majority would be wiped out and the measure would in due course be passed. On the other hand, if the measure rejected by the Senate is one for which the demand is merely temporary, a comparatively partisan measure, then its rejection by the Senate may be a good, rather than a bad thing. That is the argument for the Senate.

Conversely, it is arguable that the people of Canada are not exactly irresponsible children, and that if the majority of its selected representatives in the House of Commons pass a measure, it is unreasonable that that measure should be delayed even for only a few years by a body which has no popular mandate whatever. That is the argument against the Senate.

Whether we approve of the Senate in its present form or not, we must put up with it until it is duly and legally changed, and there are difficulties about getting it changed. It means an alteration in the British North America Act, and formally at least that alteration must be made by the Parliament of Great Britain. That Parliament would, of course, not think of refusing to give effect to any change in the Canadian Constitution which the Parliament of Canada asks for, but then the Parliament of Canada includes this stiff-necked and unconscionable Senate. A Senate dominated by a majority hostile to the government of the day will certainly not acquiesce in any measure designed to curb its power of annoying that government. On the other hand, if the Senatorial majority is favorable to the government of the day, then almost infallibly that government will have no fault whatever to find with the Senate or the constitution, but will regard them as the best of political institutions in the best of political worlds. "Almost infallibly," not "quite infallibly," for some day there may be a government in Canada which will put the real and permanent good of the country before the temporary advantage of the party. When that happens, the Senate had better look out. Meantime the Liberal heathen may rage and the Liberal people imagine vain things like the tar and feathers for bad little senators, but the Senate itself will sleep in peace.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The big fair is nearly over. It is the result of nearly a year's work and planning by a few men who willingly and without remuneration give of their time and work because they believe that the fairs have their part in improving stock and industry in the Province.

In the bigger places, such as Calgary and Edmonton, the stock end of the fair is each year becoming more obscured by the stampeo, auto races and other expensive attractions that the small exhibition associations cannot possibly put on. But the exhibits in Red Deer have always been, and are this year, proportionately better than those in Edmonton or Calgary.

The Liberal won over the former candidate in the Grouard bye-election which was to be expected. The constituency has always been Liberal and under Liberal governments has received the choicest bits of patronage possible. There is no doubt that the government made a tactical error when they allowed H. W. Wood to enter the lists on their behalf, just as they made a blunder in running a candidate.

The question of the building of a $7,000,000 frame school seems to be arousing a great deal of discussion. As is usual, there are two sides to the question, each with considerable justification. We agree with the view expressed by the city fathers that there should be a public meeting to discuss the proposal. If it is not feasible to hold the meeting, we would support such a demand of the School Board for a free use of our columns for a public discussion.

The discussions over the taxation of the St. Luke's Parish Hall in the City of Calgary became quite animated, it being impossible to entirely keep the personal element out of the argument. What is apparently quite likely to be the conclusion of the matter is a demand for taxation of all churches except those which support such a demand, and we believe that in the long run it would be a benefit to the churches themselves if they were all taxed.

By occupying the heavy overhead, which the city stores must stand, the small town merchant is able to equal, and in some cases, better the city prices. But, if your small town store is to compete with its larger rival, it must advertise in its home paper just as the big concern does in the city papers.

SCOUT CAMP

The 1st Red Deer Pack finished a very successful week-end camp Monday, July 14. Leaving at 6 o'clock on Friday evening, six Cubs and a Scout, accompanied by Cubmaster E. R. Callender, left by cars for the old camping ground at Sylvan Lake. On arrival, tents were set up and all made up a lovely day. All were up early, and after a wash in the lake which removed the last traces of the "red man," and a run round camp, everyone was ready for breakfast. Cooking meals was done by the boys, two together and making their own fire. A variety of dishes were put away under the stars, but none complained of severe pains. After breakfast, blankets were placed out in the sun and tents put in order ready for camp inspection, morning prayers, and flag raising at 9 o'clock. The morning was spent in Cub work and games, and in the afternoon Scout held a trail by Scout signs which we endeavored to follow, but not very successfully. Two exhibition parades, one at 11 and the other at 4 o'clock, were always acceptable. Saturday evening we were entertained by Scoutmaster Callender who brought out eight Scouts. Sunday was a real hot day; a ramble through the woods in the morning, and visits from parents and friends in the afternoon filled the day. Monday morning, more games and Cub work. Soon after 2 o'clock the Pack held a parade—seven Scouts and six Cubs with Scoutmaster Callender. We finished our camp and were all ready for home soon after supper, having spent a real time. Our thanks are due those who kindly acted as transport to and from the lake.

BROOKSLEY BEAMS

Some much needed showers and some hall have fallen this week, making a marked improvement on crops and farmers. The hall was not sufficient to damage the crops in this district.

Rev. Irish preached to a large congregation here on Sunday last.

Word has been received that Billy Marshall will be home in a few days' time. Put your best bids and tucks on, girls.

A timely warning to our local flit: He who courts and runs away, May live to court another day; But he who courts and will not wed, May find himself "in court" instead.

With apologies to Tennyson.

EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

Calgary, July 17.

Cattle—Receipts at Calgary light, but market dragging, though fair movement. Choice heavy, $10.00 to $10.50; medium, $8.50 to $9.00; common, $7.50 to $8.00. Choice light steers, $4.75 to $5.25; good, $4.25 to $4.75; medium, $3.50 to $4.00; common, $2.50 to $3.00. Choice heifers, $4 to $4.50; good, $3.25 to $3.75; medium, $2.50 to $3.00; common, $1.50 to $2.00. Bulls, choice up to $2; plain steers, $1 to $1.50. Calves, choice veal, $4 to $4.50; common, $2 to $3. Feeders, Stockers—Trading light. Feeders, $3.50 to $3.75; stockers, $2.50 to $3.00; stock heifers, $2 to $2.50; stock cows, $1 to $2.50.

Beef—Exhibition week at Edmonton meant very light receipts and prices are nominally unchanged. Choice heavy and light steers, $5 to $5.50; good, $4.50 to $5; medium, $3.50 to $4; common, $2 to $2.50. Choice heifers, $4 to $4.50; good, $3.50 to $4. Choice cows, $3.50 to $3.75; good, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; common, $2 to $2.50; canners from $1.50 down. Bulls unchanged at $2.25 for really good ones. Choice veal will make up to $5.50. Feeders, Stockers—Little business, unchanged, at $3 to $4 for feeders and stockers. $2 to $2.50, $2.50 to $3.00; stock cows, $1.50 to $2.50.

Hogs—Calgary receipts light and prices easier since last report and most of thick smooths at $6.75; bacon 10 per cent. premium; today's price, $6.75. Edmonton prices lower this week and receipts heavy, thick smooths brought $6.75 to $6.85; bacon 10 per cent. premium.

Sheep—Shipments to Calgary yards still light; some lambs sold this week at $12.50 each; breeding ewes at same price.

Not enough sheep at Edmonton to establish prices, choice lambs probably $12.50 to $13.00, $3 to $9; fat ewes from $7 down.

Grain—Favorable crop conditions all over the prairie owing to lack of rainfall, and reports of a shortage in world crops, has made the market very bullish. There have been more favorable reports from parts of Manitoba during the past few days. In Alberta rain would do good to practically all the crops and in many districts urgently needed, while in some sections the grain crop is practically gone. The average does not look at present to be better than fair, taking the province as a whole. There has been some rain during the week, but lots more is needed.

Butterfat—Cream—Creamery Butter—Market quiet, but firm; creameries and prints unchanged. Butterfat—Creamery, $1.15 to $1.20; Dairies, $1.10 to $1.15. Dairies—Pancake table at markets, 21c to 25c; dealers at 14c. Butterfat—Unchanged; production showing some decrease, owing to lighter pasturage.

Eggs—Calgary dealers raised prices on lower grades, making prices: Extras, $2.00; No. 1, $1.75; No. 2, $1.50; and cracks, 13c. Poultry—Unchanged, and receipts light; fowl, 12c to 13c; broilers, 20c, live.

Potatoes—Old crop meeting hard competition from British Columbia new potatoes and new Alberta coming on soon. Calgary price around $15 for best and down to $12.

From present indications those who held hay over will do all right, as average crop for province will be light. No prices at present which are reliable.

Hides—Market still very slow and prices unchanged.

Pure—Very little trading; values unchanged for present.

PROVINCIAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The Alberta Provincial Tennis Tournament this year promises to be just a little better than ever before. The Tournament Committee and the Executive of the Canadian Tennis Association spared no pains to make it a distinct success, not only from the tennis, but also from the social standpoint, and all lovers of the game from whatever corner of the province are assured of all the tennis they want and a good social time.

Entries must be in the hands of the Secretary, P. C. Casselman, 614 Tanager Building, not later than 5 p.m. Thursday, July 24th. Players outside of Edmonton do not need to report till Monday, July 28th. Excellent accommodation for out-of-town players will be provided at the Corona Hotel, and if times of arrival are notified with entry, players will be met by Reception Committee and made welcome.

LESLIEVILLE

Owing to sickness, especially on the part of the mother, the family of Mr. Jos. Wolny was reduced to indigent circumstances. Mr. Wolny had been suffering for some time, and the children, all being small, have consequently been neglected. Although there appears to have been plenty of food, practically no cooking has been done since the father took sick. This pitiful condition was brought to the notice of the municipal authorities on Sunday, 13th, for their consideration. The Council took immediate steps, visiting the home as soon as possible, and Monday Mrs. Wolny was transferred to Leslieville, where a temporary hospital was arranged. The sickness being pronounced contagious, quarantine was enforced. Mrs. McNeil, the efficient and ever willing nurse, took charge.

Regarding the recent Grouard by-election, it is understood the Liberals won out. All well and good. We commend them on their ability, congratulate them on their success—but is this success? Reports aver that this was one of the most deplorable, dastardly elections staged in years. Old methods of electioneering, biased, dishonest political bosses, political heifers alike, reemerging from the hells of minds of intemperate public. There are those who love our country, have pride in our communities, yet find this a scandalous thing. Making a candidate. He either makes progress or degenerates. Many are wondering what we are to do when our government or government aspirants stoop to such a lowebb. What for? Isn't there something wrong?

A sure sign that haying time is drawing nigh—the rainy season has commenced.

Here and There

It is announced that vigorous efforts will be made by the Government of Manitoba to effect the actual settlement of 224,000 acres of vacant provincial land now under the administration of the Crown.

For the week ended June 21st traffic earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway amounted to $3,201,000, as compared with $3,169,000 for the corresponding period of 1923. This is an increase of $32,000 or 1.4 per cent.

Reports from the Rouyn gold fields of Quebec continue to indicate a great future for that territory. Development is proceeding apace and the English capital now flowing into Canada in search of good investments is interesting itself in this area.

Three carloads of seed grain are being shipped from the province to the provincial seed cleaning and marketing plant at Edmonton, Alta. About 60,000 bushels of seed grain have been handled by the plant since last fall and 20,000 bushels more will be handled before the year's seeding is completed.

In 1923 the total earnings of this great corporation were $185,827,039, and every community in Canada directly benefitted by the expenditure of 81 per cent. of this huge amount in the home market.

The 124 cut of the East Kootenay (B.C.) forestry district gives promise of running to a grand total of 150,000,000 feet. There is a total of 124 cuts in the district, of longer lengths and in railway ties, and a cut of some 1,000,000 sawn ties and the usual quantity of the heavy variety is looked for. Sixteen sawmills are now in operation and indications are that there will probably be thirty going before the season closes.

Canada now takes third place, and second place among British possessions, of the gold-producing areas of the world. The total production of the world for 1922—the latest year for which returns are available—was 15,440,000 fine ounces, of which the Transvaal produced 7,020,110, or 45.5 per cent. The United States came second, with 2,563,076 ounces, or 16.5 per cent., and Canada followed, with 1,263,364 ounces, or 8.2 per cent.

POULTRY MITES AND LICE

(Experimental Farms Note)
One of the greatest hot weather problems on the poultry farm is the control of external parasites. Of all such pests that trouble poultry in Canada the Red Mite is by far the most troublesome. These are not red in colour as the name would lead one to suppose, but grey, and it is only when they become gorged with blood that they appear red. They are not usually found on the fowl during the day but in the cracks and crevices of the poultry house where they breed rapidly. The young repeatedly cast their skins during development, and these cast skins are the most common cause of the mites. At night, when the birds are roosting, the pests will swarm over them, placing their skins with needle like legs and sucking the blood. This results in a stoppage of egg-laying or in greatly reduced production.

Do not wait until you know mites are present. At the Dominion Experimental Farms the roosts and adjacent parts are painted or soaked every week or so throughout the warm weather with a solution of one of the coal tar disinfectants. A special paint made by diluting either one of the coal tar disinfectants or crude carbolic, one pound to four or five parts of coal oil or kerosene. When the mites are known to be present a thorough house cleaning is in order. Remove all droppings and old nesting material, scrape and sweep out every particle of dirt and burn it. Sweep down the walls, and with the aid of a spray pump saturate every crack in the house with the mixture with a good strong disinfectant solution.

The control of lice is much easier, for while there are a number of different species, the same methods of control are satisfactory for all. The natural method of control is the dust bath; more effective if a little flowers of sulphur be added. However, there are always some birds in a flock that will not use the bath, so it is safest if lice are noticed, to treat each bird individually. At the Dominion Experimental Farm blue ointment is used, a little being rubbed beneath the wings and below the vent, to kill the lice and any that may hatch. For setting hens, depend on the dust and sulphur rubbed into the plumage, as the ointment will not only kill the lice but the germs in the eggs as well.

of the series dealing with the establishment of the BANK OF MONTREAL at representative points in CANADA and elsewhere

THE year 1867, when the foundations of modern Canada were laid by Confederation, was the year in which the Bank of Montreal celebrated the 50th anniversary of its foundation. By that time the Bank was already a strong and stable institution, with Branches well distributed throughout Upper and Lower Canada.

Established in Montreal in 1817, the Bank opened an Office in Quebec in the same year, in York (now Toronto) in 1818, in Ottawa in 1842, in Halifax in 1868, in Winnipeg in 1878, in Regina in 1882, in Victoria in 1891, in Fredericton in 1899, in Edmonton in 1903, and in Charlottetown in 1907.

Today the Bank has more than 550 Branches in Canada and offices in New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Spokane, London, Paris and Mexico.

CRICKET

Red Deer had a good day when they defeated Innisfail on Wednesday, July 16. Everyone on the team played a good game, the fielding being especially good. Red Deer went in to bat first, Buck, who contributed a useful 12, made the first hit of the match for 4; then Lavender knocked up a nice 15; Stonehouse, who followed, played a very careful game and did not leave until the score had reached 37. In the meantime Stonehouse, with 21, and Kent with 11, added runs in short order. The only other man to reach double figures was Morris, who carried out his bat for 15. The last two hits he made being a four and a six off Caroe, the latter hit bringing the score to a close with a total of 109.

Beechey and Caroe did most of the bowling for Innisfail, the former taking 5 wickets for 43 and the latter 4 for 30.

The Innisfail batsmen were not able to cope with the bowling of Stonehouse and Lavender, supported as they were by the fielders, who all gave a far better exhibition than has been seen in Red Deer for some considerable time. Stonehouse made two beautiful catches off Lavender's bowling, and caught and bowled Wagner, thus disposing of three good batsmen for the Innisfail side.
